Biography

Based out of Melbourne, Maddy Tyers is a rising star of Australian stage and screen. As an actor, presenter, children's entertainer, voice-over artist and writer, Maddy's list of accomplishments continue to grow.

Maddy has appeared in a host of Australian TV series', short films and features including Border Protection Squad, Neighbours, Back In Very Small Business and City Homicide but is best known for her supporting lead role as Amanda Tucci in the hit kid's TV series The Elephant Princess. Broadcast in over 35 countries across the world (nationally on Network 10, The Disney Channel and Nickelodeon), The Elephant Princess is a hugely popular children fantasy program that won the 2009 AFI award for the Best Children's Television Drama. In 2019, Maddy and her husband Jimmy also hit the small screen as competitors in the AACTA award winning Channel Nine reality TV series, Lego Masters.

Maddy has a vast amount of experience entertaining children and families having worked for the Starlight Children's Foundation as a Captain Starlight for five years. In the role of Captain Starlight she has had the wonderful opportunity of fulfilling the company's mission: 'to brighten the lives of seriously ill children and their families' drawing on the skills she has gained from her many years of performance and children's entertainment.

Away from her acting career, Maddy is the co/founder and artistic director of 'Spot N Dot' Entertainment, a children's birthday party and events company and has also worked as an educational music teacher for Hey Dee Ho Music for several years. Maddy is currently in the process of having her first children's picture story book published with Interactive Publishing and is due to launch the title in 2020.

Maddy is a talented, driven and passionate performer who is constantly refining her skills and developing her craft. She studies regularly at the Howard Fine Acting Studio, with internationally acclaimed dialect coach, Anna McCrossin-Owen and private coach and mentor, Jasper Bagg. Maddy is represented by John and Wendy Powell at Active Artists Management.
