Diversity, Authenticity and Visibility

Biography

Carma Sharon is an international actor, singer and model, best known for her role as Jamila M'barek in the American drama TV series Deadly Women (2015).

After graduating from Trinity College (UK) with a diploma of Musical Theatre, complementing her intensive acting and singing training in London, Carma moved to Sydney to further pursue her acting career in the TV and film industry.

Her captivating on-screen presence, strong emotional range, and great comedy skills has seen her secure numerous film and television roles alongside some of the industry's most recognisable names. She has appeared in "Dead Squad" (2017), "Truth" (2015) with Cate Blanchett, "The Daughter" (2015) with Geoffrey Rush, "RSVP" (2016), "Embedded" (2014), "Abandoned" (2015) and "Black Comedy" (ABC 2014) to name a few.

Blending a Jewish heritage with an exotic Israeli beauty, Carma's big, expressive eyes and excellent command of a variety of accents complement her commitment and drive to her craft perfectly, genuinely confer upon her the status of a 'Complete Performer'.
